Prior to 2000, I was working in London in a freelance capacity on TVC & film shoots as a PA. Also taught video production to children aged 7-17 in New York state in 1997 for 4 months.

I have run my own production company BANGBANG Films, producing for other directors and developing long form projects.

My career in the industry started on the producing side and I became involved in the creative side concurrently (writing, directing, editing and shooting). I am a well versed in both areas and can work across either side of a production.

I'm currently in development on a feature film.
